CONFERENCE ENVIRONMENT POLICY

ASHM Conference and Events Division implements a waste-reduction policy that addresses:

- Reduce, Reuse, Recycle. This is done before, during and after each conference.
- ASHM Conference & Events Division reduces the number of printed materials by using electronic communication means wherever possible, including the website, email, online registration and abstract submission.
- ASHM Conference & Events Division monitors final delegate numbers for an accurate forecast of catering requirements in order to avoid waste.
- ASHM Conference & Events Division aims to research and prioritise purchasing items and equipment that support the use of recycled materials or can be recycled after use.
- ASHM Conference & Events Division will aim to ensure that recycling bins are available onsite at all events.
- ASHM Conference & Events Division will endeavor to minimise travel through the use of teleconferences instead of face-to-face meetings and holding meetings only when necessary.

ASHM Conference & Events Division encourages all conference stakeholders to consider the environment by suggesting the following: reduction in printing requirements; recycling conference materials; and reusing conference merchandise.

WELCOME

TO THE 2017 AUSTRALASIAN HIV & AIDS CONFERENCE

The Australasian Society for HIV, Viral Hepatitis and Sexual Health Medicine (ASHM) and the National Program Committee appreciate your support of this annual conference.

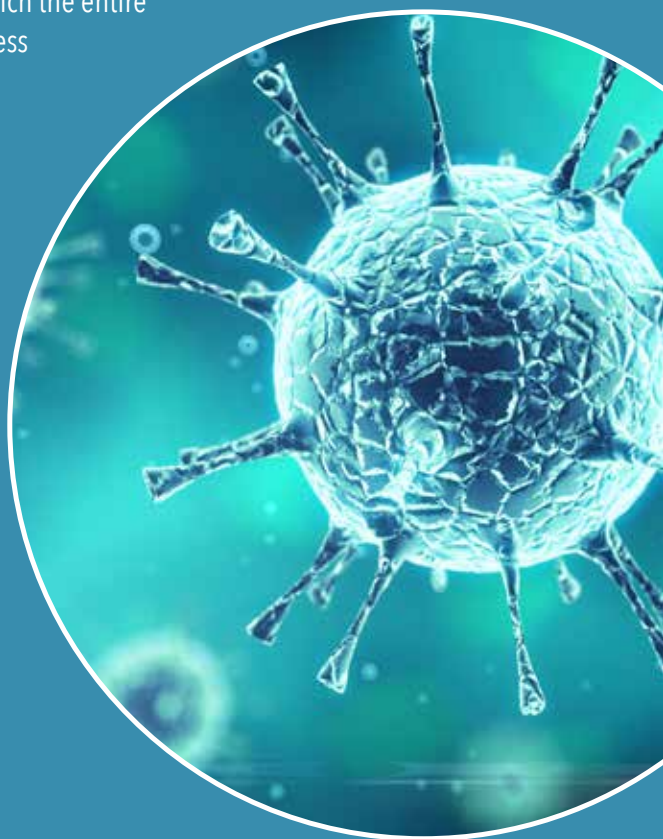

Many of you already understand the benefits of attending this meeting in person – the ability to congregate with your friends, peers and colleagues, share new ideas, quiz international experts about the latest research and new approaches to practice, and to critically reflect on our progress in tackling HIV and AIDS in Australasia. The geographical distances in the region are huge, and it is rare for so many of us to come together in one place to articulate the current mood and debates within the field, and to share successes and challenges across jurisdictions. There is always debate and questioning of whether we are doing enough, and what we could do differently to reduce the impact of the HIV epidemic, and this meeting encourages that discussion.

The HIV response has been galvanised in recent years to embrace new approaches in education, prevention and care, seeking to meet bold, global targets by diversifying the ways in which we engage affected communities, deliver services, target research priorities and monitoring impact. The conference presents a great opportunity to understand how these significant shifts are affecting the response to HIV in Australia and our region – and the ways in which affected communities, clinicians, researchers, educators and policymakers have informed and are responding to the current moment. As in previous years, the HIV&AIDS Conference will be held back-to-back with the Sexual Health Conference. An effective HIV response is inseparable from promoting and maintaining sexual health, and the overlapping meetings will allow challenges and opportunities in both fields to be shared and scrutinised.

The Australasian HIV&AIDS Conference is one of the few meetings at which the entire HIV sector gets together to identify new ways forward and debate progress in tackling HIV. The exposure to a range of perspectives is vital to the collaborative response, and to remaining informed and engaged. Of particular interest to many of us at this meeting is the sense that HIV responses are running at different speeds in different jurisdictions, and that success is not equally distributed. The fear that the most disadvantaged and vulnerable will get left behind as progress is made needs to be acknowledged and solutions discussed. This year presents a particular opportunity to have this discussion while engaging with local and national elected representatives and bureaucrats, as the meeting is held in Canberra, Australia's national capital city, seat of the Parliament of Australia and Australian Capital Territory Legislative Assembly.

We thank you for attending the conference, encourage you to actively participate in it, share your ideas and take some new ones home with you. We look forward to seeing you in Canberra.

MARTIN HOLT AND DENISE KRAUS
on behalf of ASHM and the National Program Committee

WELCOME

TO THE 2017 AUSTRALASIAN SEXUAL HEALTH CONFERENCE

Welcome to the nation's capital for the 2017 Australasian Sexual Health Conference. Please enjoy all that Canberra and the Capital Region have to offer around the important conference business that brings you here, and discover the natural beauty, great food and wine, and other delights that await those who seek them.

The Australasian Sexual Health Alliance brings together and strengthens the interdisciplinary relationships between Sexual Health and Infectious Diseases Physicians, General Practitioners, Nurses, Researchers, Educators, Allied Health Professionals, interested community members, and other key contributors to sexual health and wellbeing.

This year's conference program is sure to engage the diversity of delegate interests, around the theme of "Re-Forming Sexual Health." We live in an era of rapid social and technological change and transformation. Speakers and presenters have responded to the challenge to articulate and share research, practice and policy innovations as we evolve integrated and personalised models of care, and make good use of available resources to meet changing and growing community needs and expectations.

We encourage you to make new connections, and rekindle your existing networks, and trust you will return with renewed energy and ideas to our shared work of improving sexual health and wellbeing in our communities

INTERNATIONAL SPEAKERS

PROF GEORG BEHRENS

Prof. Georg MN Behrens is an Internist, HIV-Specialist and Professor for T Cell Immunology in the Department for Clinical Immunology and Rheumatology at Hannover Medical School, Hannover, Germany. Born in 1968, Georg Behrens studied medicine at Hannover Medical School and Justus-Liebig-University Giessen. He graduated in Medicine at Hannover Medical School in 1995. In 1996 he finished his doctoral thesis in the Department of Clinical Immunology and Transfusion Medicine, Giessen. After this, he did his clinical training in Internal Medicine in Hannover. From 2001-2003, he went as a postdoc to the Immunology Division at the Walter and Eliza Hall Institute for Medical Research, Melbourne, Australia and returned to Hannover to become a professor for immunology and to build up a research group.

Georg Behrens is an internationally acknowledged expert on HIV-therapy, related metabolic side effects, and co-morbidities. His lab works on antigen presentation by dendritic cells, autoimmunity and autophagy in transgenic mouse models and human cells. He has published numerous papers in journals such as Lancet, J Exp Med, J Clin Invest, Nat Immunol, AIDS, J Immunol and others. His laboratory is supported by the German Research Foundation, the Federal Ministry of Education and Research and others. He is principal investigator of national and international studies in HIV medicine and Member of the Steering Committee of the European NEAT-ID Network and member of the TTU-HIV as part of the German Center for Infection Research (DZIF).

He is current president of the German AIDS Society, Panel Chair of the EACS Guidelines "Prevention and management of non-infectious co-morbidities in HIV", elected Regional Representative of EACS, and a faculty member of the Hannover Biomedical Research School (HBRS).

DR GENOVEFFA FRANCHINI

Doctor Genoveffa Franchini, M.D. Senior Investigator, Vaccine Branch, Head, Animal Models and Retroviral Vaccines Section, Center for Cancer Research National Cancer Institute.

Dr. Genoveffa Franchini is a hematologist and renowned retrovirologist who has pioneered research on oncogenes and human retroviruses (HTLVs and HIVs). She has made numerous achievements in virology and translational approaches to prevent human diseases caused by retroviruses. Her work has furthered the understanding of HIV and HTLV-1 pathogenesis, leading to the identification and characterization of new viral genes for HIV and HTLV-1 and their functions. Her accomplishments in HIV vaccine development include the pre-clinical that led to the first vaccine trial in 16,000 volunteers in Thailand that has demonstrated significant, though limited, protection against HIV acquisition. Her basic work in immunological mechanisms of protection furthered the understanding of the efficacy of the currently available smallpox vaccine in primates. She also has pioneered strategies to down-modulate regulators of immune response in HIV-1-infected individuals, using the macaque model of SIV infection.

DR ROWENA JOHNSTON

Rowena Johnston, PhD, is Vice President and Director of Research at amfAR, The Foundation for AIDS Research. Dr. Johnston has been instrumental in forming the amfAR Research Consortium on HIV Eradication (ARCHE) and has designed ARCHE studies including confirming the cure of the Berlin patient, characterizing the Mississippi child, delineating sex differences in LRA responses of the reservoir, discovering predictors of delay to rebound following ATI and initiating a global network of stem-cell transplant clinics aimed at repeating the cure of the Berlin patient. She also designed studies to compare, as well as to develop, new tools to measure the reservoir.

She has conducted independent studies identifying demographic inequalities in cure researcher and trial participant communities.

In 2014, she led the development of amfAR's Countdown to a Cure for AIDS initiative and serves on the governing board of the amfAR Institute for HIV Cure Research.

PROF JEFFREY KLAUSNER

Dr. Klausner is a Professor of Medicine in the Division of Infectious Diseases and Professor of Public Health, Department of Epidemiology, University of California Los Angeles. As former Director San Francisco Department of Public Health STD program and Chief CDC-PEPFAR South Africa HIV and TB branch, Dr. Klausner helped identify key factors associated with the increased spread of HIV and STDs and implemented multiple novel public health prevention and treatment programs.

Dr. Klausner has a particular interest in the use of technology-information, digital, and laboratory-to facilitate testing and treatment access for disadvantaged and hard-to-reach populations. Dr. Klausner has been funded by the NIH, CDC, private pharmaceutical and diagnostic test manufacturers to study the benefits of new ways to prevent and control infectious diseases. He is a frequent advisor to the US CDC, NIH and WHO.

DR REENA RAJASURIAR

Reena Rajasuriar is a senior lecturer in the Department of Pharmacy, University of Malaya and an adjunct Research Fellow at the Peter Doherty Institute for Infection and Immunity, Melbourne University, Australia. She is also a post-doctoral scientist for the Centre of Excellence for Research in HIV/AIDS (CERiA) in University of Malaya.

Reena graduated with her Bachelor of Pharmacy (Hons) from University Science Malaysia in 2000 and Masters in Clinical Pharmacy in 2003. She was awarded her Ph.D degree in Immunology by Monash University Australia in 2012 and her doctoral research focused on immunogenetics in HIV patients.

Dr. Rajasuriar coordinates the translational research program in HIV immunology at the Centre of Excellence for Research in AIDS (CERiA). Her current research focuses on the immunopathogenesis of accelerated aging and modulators of immune activation in HIV.

DR AYDEN SCHEIM

Ayden Scheim is a Canadian Institutes of Health Research Postdoctoral Fellow in Global Public Health at the University of California San Diego. He holds a PhD in Epidemiology and Biostatistics from Western University in London, Canada. His research examines the impacts of social and policy environments on health behaviours and access to care among stigmatized populations, particularly LGBT communities and people who use drugs. For almost 15 years, he has worked to enhance sexual health promotion and HIV prevention for transgender communities in Canada and internationally through epidemiologic and social scientific research, health promotion, program development, and advocacy.

PROF GRAHAM TAYLOR

Qualified MB ChB from the University of Birmingham Medical School, England.

Trained in General Internal Medicine in the West Midlands and South Wales

Appointment as Chief Medical Officer (Medicine) for the Solomon Islands 1988 – 1991 where he first became interested in the Human T-cell Lymphotropic Viruses and SCUBA diving.

Joined the Section of Virology, Imperial College Faculty of Medicine (formerly St. Mary's Hospital Medical School) 1992 as a HIV clinical research fellow working on the Delta Trial. Set up the HTLV-1 clinic in 1992 an HIV antenatal service in 1995.

Appointed as Honorary Consultant/Senior Clinical Lecturer in 2000 and promoted to Professor of Human Retrovirology in 2013. Runs the National HTLV clinical service in England, a diagnostic lab and retroviruses translational research group.

Secretary 2001 – 2005, President 2005 – 2009 of International Retrovirology Association.

Co-founder and honorary secretary of the HTLV European Research Network (1993 – present).

LOCAL SPEAKERS

2017 AUSTRALASIAN HIV & AIDS CONFERENCE

DR ADAM BOURNE

Adam is a social and behavioural scientist who specialises in HIV/sexual health formative and evaluative research among key populations. Prior to joining ARCSHS in early 2017, Adam spent a decade working with the Sigma Research group at the London School of Hygiene & Tropical Medicine. During this time he led a number of national and international qualitative studies that explored HIV risk and prevention behaviours among gay and bisexual men, as well as community surveys and sexual health needs assessments of people living with HIV. He has published widely in the field of drug use among LGBT populations, especially use that occurs in sexual settings ('chemsex'). He is currently co-investigator of the 'TRANSFORM' bio-behavioural study, which examines social and sexual networks of men who have sex with men in Kenya and South Africa.

PROF ANDREW GRULICH

Professor Andrew Grulich is a medical epidemiologist and Public Health Physician. He is head of the HIV Epidemiology and Prevention Program at the Kirby Institute. He is a past president of the Australasian Society for HIV Medicine, a past member of the International AIDS Society Governing Council, and a Fellow of the Australian Academy of Health and Medical Sciences. His research group studies the transmission and prevention of HIV and sexually transmitted infections in homosexual men, and the links between infection, immune function and cancer in people with HIV.

MR NIC HOLAS

Nic Holas is an activist, writer, and co-founder of The Institute of Many (TIM), an advocacy platform and grassroots movement for People Living with HIV. TIM has been identified as a major player in the nation's modern-day HIV response, delivering grassroots activism, digital campaigns, resources, events, and digital community spaces since 2012.

MR SIMON BLAKE

Simon Blake is Chief Executive of the National Union of Students UK. NUS is a confederation of students' unions and collectively with them the voice of almost 7 million students in the UK. Simon is deputy chair of Stonewall, the LGBT Charity. Prior to joining NUS he was Chief Executive of Brook, the young people's charity and prior to that director of the Sex Education Forum. He has written widely on all aspects of sex and relationships education. In 2011 he was awarded an OBE for services to the voluntary sector and young people.

DR TARIQ SADIQ

Dr Tariq Sadiq is Reader and Consultant Physician at St George's, University of London. He graduated in Medicine at Southampton University in 1989 and following post-graduate professional training obtained his MD from University College London in 2005, where he investigated the impact of bacterial sexually transmitted infections on antiretroviral resistant HIV strains. His current research interests include pathogenesis/genomics of STIs, the development and evaluation of diagnostic technologies for rapid antimicrobial resistance detection and e-health care.

He is principal investigator of eSTI2 (electronic self-testing instruments for sexually transmitted infections Consortium), and Founding Director of the Applied Diagnostic Research and Evaluation Unit (ADREU) at St George's and Public Health England, which conducts Diagnostic Evaluations at all stages of the developmental pipeline, including early assay development, through regulatory approval and clinical effectiveness studies.

DR AYDEN SCHEIM

Ayden Scheim is a Canadian Institutes of Health Research Postdoctoral Fellow in Global Public Health at the University of California San Diego. He holds a PhD in Epidemiology and Biostatistics from Western University in London, Canada. DR ELOISE BROOK

Eloise is a writer, advocate and academic. As an academic she has written on the formation of queer families on television. Her current research projects include; trans people in public health and developing models for media representation of trans in the Media. Ella is on the board of the Gender Centre.

PROF MONICA LAHRA

Professor Monica Lahra is the Medical Director, Division of Bacteriology, and Director of the World Health Organisation Collaborating Centre for STD, Sydney, based in the Department of Microbiology, New South Wales Health Pathology at The Prince of Wales Hospital in Sydney. Professor Lahra is in charge of diagnostic bacteriology, and the operations and programmes of the WHO CC. This role includes the responsibility for national and international AMR surveillance networks. Professor Lahra is the author of more than 100 papers in peer reviewed journals, and has participated in the preparation of technical documents on antimicrobial resistance surveillance and treatment guidelines in the role of a Temporary Advisor for the World Health Organisation.

PROF DANIELLE MAZZA

Professor Danielle Mazza MD, MBBS, FRACGP, DRANZCOG, Grad Dip Women's Health GAICD is one of Australia's leading clinician researchers in general practice. She holds the Chair of General Practice at Monash University where she has been Head of Department since 2010. Danielle has been highly influential in improving the quality of clinical care delivered in general practice through her contributions as a researcher and educator in the field of women's sexual and reproductive health, preventive care and the early detection of cancer. She has attracted more than $20 million in competitive research funding as a Chief Investigator and written 118 peer-reviewed publications. She is the author of the textbook "Women's health in general practice" and lead investigator of the NHMRC funded ACCORD Study, which is trialling a complex intervention aimed at increasing the uptake of long-acting reversible contraception. A strong proponent of evidence based care, she has led and contributed to the development and implementation of key general practice guidelines used nationwide, and regularly provides expert advice on implementation to professional, government and policy groups.

PROF GRACELYN SMALLWOOD

In 1972, I became a registered nurse and used my qualifications to work in communities such as Alice Springs, Palm Island, remote Western Australia and South Australia. I was a volunteer member of the Townsville Aboriginal and Islander Health service in 1974, and worked as a volunteer Registered Nurse with two volunteer Doctors. Later I became a registered midwife and worked with the Remote Emergency Nursing Services, which took me all over remote Australia delivering babies in the late 1970s and early 1980s, with no benefits of modern technology.

Insurance is the responsibility of the individual delegate.

THE ALAN BROTHERTON PRIZE IN HIV CURE RESEARCH

Despite transformative changes to the diagnosis and treatment of HIV over the past 30 years, the search for an HIV cure is as relevant now as ever. Australian scientists, clinicians and community members have much to contribute to the search for a cure given our long track record of outstanding research and collaboration. As the focus on HIV cure strategies intensifies, engagement between people living with HIV and those researching and developing an HIV cure must be strong and purposeful.

Alan Brotherton (1963-2015) was a man who seized his HIV diagnosis as a call to action, dedicating the majority of his life to advocacy for people living with HIV. Alan was instrumental in the foundation of some of Australia's major peer-based HIV community organisations, including Positive Life NSW and the National Association of People with HIV in Australia (NAPWHA). His commitment to a partnership approach to HIV prevention and treatment helped to shape Australia's pioneering and hugely successful public health response to HIV. Alan was also a tireless advocate for research and was personally involved in critically important research related to an HIV cure, right until his last days. His commitment was extraordinary!

In the spirit of Alan's dedication to improving the lives of people living with HIV through partnership and the importance of HIV cure research, a $500 prize for the most outstanding abstract on research related to an HIV cure at the Australasian HIV & AIDS Conference will be offered for the first time this year.

ELIGIBILITY

Abstracts from all conference streams accepted for oral or poster presentation at the 2017 Australasian HIV & AIDS Conference relating to HIV cure will be considered. As the award is to encourage new and emerging researchers, only presenters less than 10 years post PhD or MSc will be eligible. All community members are eligible.

AFAO COMMUNITY HUB PROGRAM - EXHIBITION HALL

2017 AUSTRALASIAN HIV & AIDS CONFERENCE

MONDAY 6 NOVEMBER 2017

Morning tea 10:30AM – 11:15AM	BUSTING HIV TREATMENT MYTHS WITH THE FACTS An interactive session emphasising the role of HIV Positive Peer Workers from community based organisations working in partnership with S100 Prescribers to ensure continuum of care for people living with HIV. How to improve access to peer support programs that enable greater health and treatments literacy for both newly diagnosed and longer term diagnosed people. The session will outline Living Positive Victoria's HIV Treatment Myths and Misconceptions resource and other relevant fact sheets as well as peer network programs that build resilience. We will also generate discussion among the audience as to what they feel is important for community organisations engaging with PLHIV in terms of 'how' and 'outcomes'. Panel members: Max Niggli (Living Positive Victoria), Vic Perri (Living Positive Victoria), David Baker (GP and s100 prescriber, East Sydney Doctors)
Lunch 12:45PM – 2:00PM	HIV, SEXUAL HEALTH AND TRANS AND GENDER DIVERSE POPULATIONS: DATA COLLECTION AND RESEARCH GAPS In order to make evidence-based decisions regarding the development and targeting of programs and the allocation of resources, it is vital that data collection and research is inclusive, meaningful and representative of all trans and gender diverse people. Many databases, studies, systems and surveys do not adequately capture people with trans and gender diverse experiences in their data. When data is collected, the indicators used often misrepresent the trans and gender diverse experience as a gender identity in and of itself, and so don't accurately capture an individual's gender identity (male, female or a non-binary identity) in order to be used to effectively inform programs. This session will explore what can be done to address these issues as well as the research gaps for people of trans and gender diverse experiences. Panel members: Ayden Scheim (University of California San Diego), Teddy Cook (PASH.tn – The Peer Advocacy Network for the Sexual Health of Trans Masculinities), Mish Pony (Scarlet Alliance, Australian Sex Workers Association), A/Prof Martin Holt (Centre for Social Research in Health), Dr Denton Callander (Kirby Institute for infection and immunity in society).
Afternoon Tea 3:30PM – 4:00PM	HOW TO ENGAGE WITH DIFFERENT COMMUNITIES WITHIN QUEENSLAND Queensland's eclectic mix of men who have sex with men (MSM) populations each require a unique and localised approach to delivering sexual health promotion. QuAC (Queensland AIDS Council) will share its public health outreach strategies in connecting organised gay communities in Queensland's capital Brisbane, and difficult to reach non-gay identified MSM populations in conservative parts of southern Queensland and rural and remote far north Queensland.

TUESDAY 7 NOVEMBER 2017

Morning tea 10:30AM – 11:30AM	PRISONS: IDENTIFYING THE DISPARITIES IN HIV PREVENTION, TESTING AND CARE This session will consider why there are disparities in HIV prevention, testing and care for prisoners compared to the wider population, and how we work towards equal care for prisoners. While rates of HIV among prisoners is low in Australia, we need to ensure that access to testing, treatment and prevention options such as condoms, PrEP, PEP, and NSPs are available so HIV rates among prisoners remains low. This session will also consider what reforms could be implemented to improve the current barriers to equal access to care that prisoners face. Panel members: James Dunne (Director, Programs & Communications, AIVL – Australian Injecting & Illicit Drug Users League), Simon Ruth (CEO, VAC – Victorian AIDS Council), Dr Michael Levy (Clinical Director, Justice Health Services, ACT Health), Lea Narciso (Senior Project Officer (HIV and STIs), SA Health).
Lunch 1:00PM – 2:30PM	REMISSION AND HIV CURE: WHAT ARE THE CHALLENGES FOR OUR COMMUNITIES This session, presented with the Australian HIV Cure Community Partnership, will delve into the possibility of extended periods off antiretroviral therapy rather than complete eradication of HIV. An initial overview of current HIV cure research will be followed by a panel discussion around what remission could mean for people living with HIV, and the challenges we might face if remission becomes a reality. Panel members: Professor Sharon Lewin (The Peter Doherty Institute for Infection and Immunity), Dr Rowena Johnston (amfAR, The Foundation for AIDS Research), Cipri Martinez (National Association of People With HIV Australia), additional community representative to be confirmed, Dr Robert Page (GP and s100 prescriber, East Sydney Doctors).

2:30pm – 4:00pm CONCURRENT TO CONFERENCE PROGRAM	PREP: WORKING TOWARD AFFORDABLE AND EQUITABLE ACCESS IN AUSTRALIA This session provides an informal opportunity for community organisations to discuss how we work towards affordable and equitable access to PrEP in Australia. In the context of an imminent PBS listing, how do we transition participants from the trials to the PBS, and what are the challenges for those who import or who are Medicare ineligible?
Afternoon Tea 4:00PM – 4:30PM	HIV PREVENTION FOR SEX WORKERS – IMPLICATIONS AND APPLICATIONS OF NEW DEVELOPMENTS How does the changing landscape of prevention impact on sex workers? Given the legal and policy environments in which sex work occurs, and the differing set of considerations within a sex work context; what are the challenges and opportunities of these new developments and how do they impact on different sub populations within the sex work community (i.e. CALD, migrant, male and trans sex workers)? Panel members: Scarlet Alliance, Australian Sex Workers Association: Jules Kim - CEO, Udesha Chandrasena - Policy Officer, Mish Pony - Trans Representative, and Paco Santana - Male Representative. SWOP ACT: Lexx Jury.
4:30pm – 5:00pm CONCURRENT TO CONFERENCE PROGRAM	VIIV HEALTHCARE: Presentation and discussion of “Critical Steps Towards Addressing HIV in Australia: Perspectives and Priorities for Australia’s HIV Goals” report
WEDNESDAY 8 NOVEMBER 2017
Morning tea 11:00AM – 11:30AM	ANTIMICROBIAL RESISTANCE IN STIS: THE ROLE OF COMMUNITY IN ADDRESSING THIS EMERGING ISSUE Antimicrobial resistance in STIs has become a topic of interest over the last few years. Much of the discussion has been at the clinical or research level, with this discussion focussing on biomedical prevention strategies such as PrEP and Treatment as Prevention. This session will investigate what antimicrobial resistance means to our communities, whether our communities should be concerned, and the role our communities play in addressing this emerging issue. Panel members: Brent Clifton (ACON), Aaron Cogle (National Association of People With HIV Australia), Dr Vincent Cornelisse (GP - Prahran Market Clinic).
11:30am – 1:00pm CONCURRENT TO CONFERENCE PROGRAM	PREP AND STIS: IDLE CHIT CHAT OR THE NEXT REAL CHALLENGE In the context of biomedical prevention methods such as PrEP, and increased condomless sex among PrEP users, are STIs the next challenge for community organisations, or are STIs a side effect of scaling up biomedical prevention strategies? This session will aim to investigate whether there should be community concern about the potential increased risk of STIs among our communities with the introduction of PrEP, and if so, what the community response to this could look like. Panel members: Chris Williams (PrEP'D For Change), Nic Holas (TIM – The Institute of Many), Alison Coelho (CEH – Centre for Culture, Ethnicity & Health), Dr Denton Callander (Kirby Institute for infection and immunity in society), Dr Vincent Cornelisse (GP - Prahran Market Clinic).
Lunch 1:00PM – 2:15PM	HIDDEN POPULATIONS AND THE VIRTUAL ELIMINATION OF HIV TRANSMISSION As we work towards virtual elimination of HIV transmission, with targets such as the UNAIDS 90-90-90, it is important to ensure that certain populations are not left behind, including people with undiagnosed HIV, late HIV presenters and those not being treated. This session will aim to look at who some of these hidden populations are, including mobile populations, and discuss how we ensure they are included in the national response. Panel members: Roanna Lobo (SiREN – WA Sexual Health and Blood-borne Virus Applied Research and Evaluation Network; CoPAHM – Community of Practice for Action on HIV and Mobility), Jeremy Wiggins (PASH.tm – The Peer Advocacy Network for the Sexual Health of Trans Masculinities; VAC – Victorian AIDS Council), Alison Boughey (Positive Women Victoria), Barbara Luisi (MHAHS - Multicultural HIV and Hepatitis Service), Michele Tobin (ANA - Anwernekenhe National HIV Alliance), Tim Chen (ACON).
Afternoon Tea 3:45PM – 4:15PM	IMAGINING SELF-TESTING IN AUSTRALIA: OPPORTUNITIES AND CHALLENGES As we move towards HIV self-testing in Australia, this session will investigate the opportunities and challenges for our communities with the provision of access to self-testing. It will also explore some of the different roles for service providers to support the roll-out of this new technology. Panel members: Ben Wilcock (AFAO), Jime Lemoire (QPP – Queensland Positive People), Katy Roy (ASHM - Australasian Society for HIV, Viral Hepatitis and Sexual Health Medicine).

Alere™ HIV Combo

The new standard in HIV point of care testing

By quickly and accurately identifying HIV positive patients earlier, you can increase case finding and facilitate fast and appropriate linkage to care.

The 4th generation Alere™ HIV Combo detects more acute infections compared to 3rd generation tests. This helps close the window period and enables increased case finding at a time when individuals are highly infectious.

With accurate results in just 20 minutes from a fingerstick sample, the Alere™ HIV Combo is setting a new standard in HIV point of care testing.

Contact Alere or visit our booth to find out more.

If you are a part of one of these organisations, you are already a member of ASHA. Please get in touch and let us know what we can do for you.

HIV CAN LEAVE YOU OPEN TO PNEUMOCOCCAL INFECTION¹

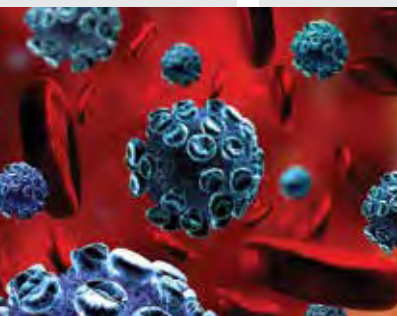

Consult your healthcare professional for more information on pneumococcal vaccinations.
